Annette, I left the service feeling sad but uplifted at the same time (it was a very touching celebration of a life that was too short by our human standards) I will miss listening to Mel's music and stopping my work to ask him "which band played this song?" or "Who is singing that - is that the original?" It was like musical memory lane - he had very good taste in music! I will miss visiting with Mel when we come to clean in the new year. We are here for you whenever you need us, hun.
