Messages of Condolence

This is by far the hardest thing I've ever had write. Words can't explain how much sorry I feel for the passing of Angela. I first met Angela back in early 2007. Took a trip up to Calgary, then Edmonton where I met her sister aunt Andrea. From there we traveled up to High Level where I met her mother Bonnie and her step father Bill. One of the most rememberable trips of my life. Over the years I lost touch with my dear friend, but she was always on my mind, especially whenever I traveled to Vancouver. I last chatted with her years ago on linkedin. That would sadly be the last time I would ever hear from her again. I was on my way to see my kids when I had this strong urge to google her name, then I saw this on the fourth of January. It's taken me this long before I was able to write this. My grandmother once told me, "the most beautiful flowers are the one that get's picked first." One can say this applies to the human race as well. Angela was one of a kind, and one of the nicest, beautiful, and most generous people I've ever met. The world lost a great human being on this day. So sorry to hear this Bonnie, Jay, Andrea, and Bill. Rest easy my friend. -Rod

Gutted!

Angela was an amazing person, her family, equally amazing! Just bizarre, Last saw her on visit back to the states. We had dinner, we chatted, we laughed about Hay River over photos we took... Chatted about my time walking Hubble in High Level, we laughed. Lost for words over this. I was hoping to catch up over dinner, then I googled her... Just gutted...
