Don was born in Fort Saskatchewan to Edward and Georgina Robinson. He moved with his family to Sinclair Mills in 1951 and then to Prince George where he lived until 1995. Don worked at Carrier Lumber most of his working life.

The last years of his life he lived in Chilliwack where he loved to play crib two nights a week and by far his favorite highlight of the week was Friday night darts, Don was loved everywhere he went as he was known as a fun-loving kind of guy. Everywhere he went he had everyone laughing.
